WAR! Dead Certain. Mexico is Getting Insolent. Shots are Exchanged Over the Rio Grande.

A Rumored Rescue of Cutting Calls Out this Mexican Order:

'Cut off his Head and Present it to the Rescuers With my Compliments.'

The Young Men of Texas Want War and Compliment Secretary Bayard.

THE WAR CLOUD

Grows in Density and Size and the Government Preparing for the Encounter.

New York, Aug. 10.—There was activity at the army posts in and near New York yesterday and communication with Washington was continuous. At Fort Hamilton the serviceable munitions of war were unloaded and shipped and it was determined just how much could be depended on from that quarter upon a sudden call. Fort Wadsworth, Will's Point and David's Island have already reported. At pier 20, on east river, gun carriages for field batteries were delivered to the Mallory Steamship company for immediate shipment to San Antonio, Texas, via Galveston. They will be carried by the Rio Grande, which will sail to-morrow. Colonel Hodges of the quartermaster's department, who shipped them, said the shipment was made in the ordinary course of business and not on special orders.

GREATLY EXCITED.

MINNAPOLIS, Texas, Aug. 10.—The friends of Governor Ireland here are jubilant over the endorsement of his policy by the old states. The city is full of excitement and in favor of the United States taking a decided stand against Mexico. There could be 1,000 men raised here for a Mexican war. At a mass meeting held last night, resolutions were passed favoring immediate war with Mexico.

SHOTS FIRED.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 10.—Shortly after dark some thirty shots were fired by the Mexican troops across the river, after a party of Mexicans, which caused the wildest excitement in this city. Everyone believed hostilities had commenced in earnest. Arms for the company of minute men recently organized, were distributed and the city council held a secret session and adopted measures for resisting an attack from the Mexicans.

A gentleman who came in upon the Mexican Central late last night, says that a telegraph operator caught information off the wire between Paso Del Norte and Chihuahua that officers of Paso Del Norte telegraphed to the governor of Chihuahua, that there was danger of an attempt from El Paso to reconquer Cutting. The order came promptly back: "In case of any attempt to reconquer Cutting, cut off his head and present it to the rescuers with my compliments."

SECRETARY BAYARD COMPLIMENTED. New York, Aug. 10.—A Dallas special says that everybody is complimenting Secretary Bayard and the war spirit prev-

dominates. The people see a ray of hope now that the Mexican outrages and Mexican insults will be redressed. All the newspapers compliment the secretary of state and the street talk is all for Bayard and war. The young men are particularly anxious to have a brush with Mexico, either under federal government or by Governor Ireland's permission. Many prominent Texans returning from Washington have done much to allay ill-feeling that obtained against Washington authorities. They all report that the government means business, is moving prudently and without unseemly haste, but everything will be all right in the end.

Senator Cooke went to see Mr. Bayard before he left Washington. The secretary told him that if there was any back down, Mexico must do it. Congressman Mills says he looks for a reconvening of congress within thirty days, unless Cutting is pardoned. "You may say," says he, "that the policy of this administration is to protect the humblest citizen, whoever he may be, and President Cleveland and Mr. Bayard will never recede one iota from this position."

NO TROOPS MOVING.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—It is stated that the war and navy departments to-day that no movements of troops or vessels have yet been ordered with a view to a possible warfare. The state department says it has still no reason to doubt that an amicable adjustment of the Cutting affair can be had.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

The Defense in the Anarchist Trial Closes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—At the anarchists' trial, the defense introduced Graham, a reporter, who had interviewed Gilmer, the witness who testified concerning the throwing of the bomb, and tried to contradict Gilmer's testimony. The defense then closed the testimony.

The prosecution called for Justice of Peace Skully, as the first witness in rebuttal. The justice testified that Officer Wessler did not identify Stinner as the man who did the shooting in the rear of the wagon at Haymarket, in the trial before him, and whom the police afterward identified as being Fielden.

Squire and Flynn Indicted.

New York, Aug. 10.—The grand jury have reported two indictments against Squire and Flynn.

Commissioner Squire has been arrested by Inspector Byrne.

Maurice B. Flynn has surrendered himself to answer to the indictment.

Their arrests grew out of a deep conspiracy, implicating Maurice B. Flynn and Rollin M. Squire in a scheme to defraud the city of New York.

K. of L. and Trades Unions.

New York, Aug. 10.—The disgraceful fight in the Central Labor union on Sunday was the principal topic of conversation in labor circles to-day. It is the general impression that it has so widened the breach between the K. of L. and the trades unions that it can not be healed until after a long and bitter fight, and that it has destroyed completely any slight chance that the Central Labor union candidate for mayor might have had.

Waylaid and Robbed.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 10.—John Morris, a farmer living near Hanging Rock, this county, was last night waylaid in a covered bridge over the Salamonie river as he was returning from Lagro, knocked down and robbed of all the money he had, about $40.

An Inducement.

A Dakota real-estate agent was visiting in the East. "Have you a church at your place?" asked a friend. "Church?" "Yes, a church." "Oh, yes, I know what you mean—one of these things where they ring a bell like thunder every Sunday morning. Yes, we've got one." "Don't you ever attend?" "Me? No, I never have yet. I put in $25, though, toward building it." "How did you come to do that if you don't take interest enough to attend?" "Oh, I knew what I was doing—we wouldn't sell any town lots without one. There's nothing will catch the western speculator when he comes to buy real estate like a church with a long, slender steeple sticking up like the nozzle of a tin oil-can."

All Quiet at Belfast.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A special from Belfast says that temporary quiet has been restored there, thanks to the tactical distribution of military forces. Persons wounded in the riot are making fair progress toward recovery except Inspector Bull, of the royal Irish constabulary, who is dying.

THE PERFECTIONISTS.

Portrait of Mrs. J. B. Martin, Who Is Said to Be a Divinity.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—A curious religious frenzy has pervaded certain circles in Ohio for the past fourteen years, or ever since the crusade which was inaugurated about that time, when bands of women went about praying in the saloons. This enthusiasm has gone on intensifying until now the matter has assumed such strange importance as to be regarded as a serious phenomenon. About thirty persons, men and women, have abandoned the churches and formed an esoteric band, whose inner mysteries have not been divulged to the world. All these people are far above the average in intelligence and social position. One of them is the widow of an ex-member of congress and a territorial judge of Kansas appointed by Buchanan. Another is the wife of an ex-judge of a court in Cincinnati. Several are girls barely out of their teens. Men of means, engaged in business, and some mere boys have joined the band. Some have sacrificed their occupations to join it, and are depending upon the Lord to provide for them. Meetings are held in a beautiful home on Walnut Hills, owned by a man and his wife, who are members.

Several years ago a series of holiness meetings was started at the Loveland camp grounds. They were for converted Christians, and their purpose was to attain a state of sinless Christian life. Dr. Leonard, the noted prohibitionist, and the "boy preacher," delivered sermons on the subject of holiness. The outcome of it all has been that Mrs. J. B. Martin professes to have reached that state of perfection wherein it is impossible for her to die. Her followers, who number about thirty, regard her as Christ manifested in the flesh. In his second advent into the world, it has never been asserted that she herself claims to be the Christ.

MRS. MARTIN.

Spirit. To these two persons they render a homage as to supernatural beings. They believe that the millennium is about to begin on earth. Yet the meetings for the most part are those only who, having become dead to the world, are born again into a new life of perfect holiness.

Your correspondent and artist called on Mrs. Martin to secure a photograph of the "Divinity," but it transpired that she was pledged not to give her portrait to the press, nor would she show one of her photographs. She treated your correspondent with the most extreme courtesy, and while engaged in conversation with him your artist secured the accompanying sketch. It will be easily recognized by any of her acquaintances, and would be a surprise to herself, only that we explain here how we obtained it.

Mrs. Martin is a most fascinating conversationalist. She is a small person, dresses neatly, and would never be accused by a newspaper man of possessing any privileges not accorded to the rest of mortals. She never claimed divinity only in mortality, and she denies all the charges of previous immorality which some papers bring against her. ROBINSON.

SOMETHING WORTH KNOWING.

How a Consumptive Lady Cured Night Sweats.

[Special Correspondence.] New York, Aug. 10.—"If I tell you," said a gentleman with a taste for something new under the sun, "the days of drugs are gliding swiftly by. Doctors of medicine will be driven to agricultural pursuits. The contents of pharmacies will languish on the shelves; medical colleges will be turned into very different institutions, and the human race grow healthier, happier, stronger and wiser all the time."

I looked an interrogator. "You want to know why, though you won't believe me when I tell you. Well, all these things will happen because the world is growing old ways. It is turning its back on things that have been the basis of the stomach alone, and traveling toward the head in the direction of things that take hold on the mind, or enter one through the medium of thought. Don't be afraid, I'm not going to emit a mind-cure sermon, but I have just heard something that makes me think in this train of thought."

I looked another interrogator. He went on: "Well, my sister, Mrs. Kardin, has seemed to be fairly started on the road to the grave because of consumption. She had night sweats and every indication of that dreadful disease. She doctored, she traveled, but she grew no better. Indeed, we could see that she grew steadily worse. Somebody told her that she could cure the night sweats by setting a large pan of fresh water under her bed every night. Of course she laughed at the idea. People always do laugh at any remedy that involves neither trouble nor expense. No; she rather thought such a remedy an insult to her intelligence. Her daughter, however, thought everything worth trying, and slipped the pan of water under the bed without her mother knowing it. Curious, but that night she missed her usual sweat. And every night thereafter when the pan was under the bed there was no sweat."

"Then she was told and was greatly astonished and delighted. After that, when the water had not been changed, the sweats returned, though she did not know that the water had not been changed, so it couldn't have been the result of imagination. The sweats have been entirely stopped by this simple remedy, and Mrs. K. seems to be getting well. It's a simple thing, but I wish you would write it out in your newspaper letters, for it may do someone good. The pan must be set under the middle of the bed, directly under the spine of the patient. Once, when Mrs. K. rolled over in her sleep on the side of the bed, away from the water, the sweats returned."

HOSTS!

Of Democrats are Assembling,

And the Rival Candidates are on Deck With all Their Transitory Fervor.

The Slate for To-morrow's Convention and Notes From the Hoosier Capital.

STATE CONVENTION.

The Hotels Filling—Caucussing for Votes Becoming Lively.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10.—The democratic convention for the nomination of a state ticket will meet in Tomlinson hall at 10 o'clock Wednesday. There will be 1,231 delegates, and it will require 617 to insure a nomination. So far as the candidates are concerned, the battle is already on. They have pre-empted the most eligible rooms at the various hotels, and have already established headquarters there. The Grand hotel lobby to-day was the principal forum upon which the early arriving delegates were warmly and numerous greeted. From present appearances the convention will be composed in an unusual degree of new men. Chairman Henderson, of the state central committee, says that the people have taken a full hand this season in selecting delegates, and many politicians who have invariably represented their various districts will this year not be present at all, or only as spectators. It is not to be supposed, however, that there will be no "wheel-horses" in the ring. It will not be difficult to discover that the convention will be democratic.

There is a decision that a lieutenant governor must be nominated to fill the vacancy created by Manson's retirement has thrown the candidates into confusion. Many well laid plans have been interrupted. Candidates have been obliged to recast accounts made up before a head was put on the ticket. The candidates for lieutenant governor have, in numerous instances, arisen from counties which have had candidates for other positions long in the field. "Before this new element was considered—and even yet in some quarters," says the News, an independent paper—the following slate was believed to be invincible:

Secretary of state—Bob Miers, of Monroe.

Auditor of state—Charles Munson, of Allen.

Treasurer of state—Tom Byrnes, of Vanderburgh.

Clerk of the supreme court—Martin Kruger, of Laporte.

Attorney general—Hugh McMullen, of Dearborn.

Superintendent of public instruction—J. W. Munson, of Porter.

Judge of the supreme court—John R. Coffroth, of Tippecanoe.

While these gentlemen have reached more prominence in their candidacy for the respective offices named, the situation is so complicated by the advent of the lieutenant governorship that no one (except Tom Byrnes, against whom there is no opposition) can rest assured that his calling and election is a certainty.

The great question, of course is, who will get the nomination for lieutenant governor. The successful man may not only succeed Governor Gray, if that gentleman goes to the federal senate, but he will undoubtedly be the candidate for governor two years hence. Two candidates are now prominent, says the News—Judge J. C. Nelson, of Cass, and Congressman Cobb, of Knox. Bell, of Allen, has declined to become a candidate; Menzies, of Posey, is represented by his friends to be unwilling to serve; Smith, of Jennings, is said to be out of the race. Jim Willard, of Lawrence, wants the nomination, but can't get it; and Charley Jewett is an unknown quantity.

The Indianapolis Journal speaking of lieutenant governor says: "Judge Downey, of Rising Sun, also had friends to suggest his name, while those who presume to know of the wishes of Bell and Cobb said emphatically they were not candidates. In conflict with this, a gentleman who knows the ambitious of democratic statesmen as well as he knows himself said 'Cobb wants it.' There was also an assertion that Bell, of Allen, had a scheme ready to put in operation at the proper time, notwithstanding, it was said, his decisive determination."

standing, it was said, his decisive determination.

The Journal adds: "Charles Munson, candidate for state auditor—This tonight is only the skirmish line. Only a few delegates are here, but I am making the most of them. Wait until to-morrow and the fight will be on in earnest."

THE NEWS

From Washington is Good To-day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The president to-day appointed Daniel Mangon, of Ogdenburg, N. Y., collector of customs for the port of New York.

Spring wheat returns to the department agent for August 1, show an improvement in the condition of wheat in Iowa, a small decline in Western Nebraska and a heavy reduction in Dakota. The general average is: Red, from 83.2 to 80. There has been a heavy decline in the condition of corn since July 1. The average then was 85, now 81. The heaviest decline is in Illinois, Wisconsin and states west of the Mississippi. The average on spring rye is 88.

There is still a good chance that Secretary Manning may return to active service in the treasury department.

President Cleveland, accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Folsom, will in a week from to-day, the 18th inst., leave Washington for a four weeks' vacation to the Adirondacks. After this week he will dispense with transacting public business, and while at the mountains will devote his entire time to recreation. He will conduct no business whatever until after his return in early October. He will take up his residence at his country home, where he will remain until congress reassembles in December.

Mr. Tilden's Will.

New York, Aug. 10.—The will of Mr. Tilden was read at Greystone to-day. The family declined giving any particulars, but Mr. John Bigelow stated the property was placed in the hands of himself, A. H. Green and G. W. Smith, as executors and trustees. Sums are apportioned to heirs equally in the line of consanguinity, except as to his sister, who is given $100,000 and a house. The remainder of the property is devoted to public benefactions. The executors are charged with the duty, first, of establishing a free library in his native village, New Lebanon, also in Yonkers, and, if in the discretion of the trustees they choose to establish a free library in this city, they may do so, and if not, they are at liberty to use the funds that a free library would cost in the promotion of any charitable or educational use. A great deal is left to the discretion of the trustees. The estate is valued at $5,000,000.

Michael Davitt's Plans.

New York, Aug. 10.—"Mr. Parnell and President Egan," said Michael Davitt to a reporter to-day, "invited me to attend the Chicago convention in the interest of harmony. I am not a delegate, but came over for change of air and a short rest. I have promised to address a meeting on Saturday of the United Irish societies, at Chicago. During my stay here I shall see and confer with the leaders of the Irish movement."

Mr. Davitt refused to express any opinion about the reply of President Egan to Secretary Gleason, of the New York municipal council, on the subject of allowing other societies to be represented in the convention at Chicago. He said that the other differences would be adjusted, and that the influence of the Irish delegates would be for harmony.

Infanticide in Indiana.

MARCO, Ind., Aug. 10.—An atrocious crime committed here in July has just come to light. Mrs. Ruth E. Chandler, of Davies county, had been making her home with her brother-in-law, Jonathan Madden. During the latter part of July she gave birth to a child. It disappeared, and neighbors began to talk about it. Last week the prosecutor was informed that the child had been found near Madden's house, buried in a hole among thick hazel brush. The body was in a paper sack, had on a shirt and three aprons.

Mrs. Chandler confesses that she gave birth to a child July 23, but did not know what became of it. Also that the father of the child was Enoch Hindman, a wealthy farmer, married, with a wife and children living, and a brother-in-law of Madden. Hindman died last spring of trichinosis. Mrs. Chandler was held for murder in the first degree and Madden as an accessory. Both are in jail at Bloomfield.

Valparaiso has a kindergarten.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 10.—A light shower subdued the forest fires somewhat. The fires are burning the fiercest north of the city. No damage has yet been done excepting the burning of the slaughter house, the loss on which is very light. At Works Lake the Superior Power company, two miles north of this city, men have been fighting the fire all night with success. There is no danger of the fire reaching the city at present. Unless a strong wind springs up there will be no further danger.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

THERE is a small Boston boy growing up who has the stuff of a patriot in him. Johnnie Jones, aged 8, of Boston, accompanied his mother, brother, and sister to Utica to make a visit. He soon disappeared and could not be found. Messengers were sent out, the City Hall bell rung, and his mother was in great anguish. Two hours later on the boy from the Hub was found over in Deerfield. He said that he didn't like Utica as well as Boston, and had started to walk home.

PAUL HAMILTON HAYNE, the Southern poet, who has just died at the age of 55 years, was a man of highly sensitive nature, modest, and remarkably industrious. He had a picturesque home near Augusta, Ga.—a little house on the top of a hill surrounded by a few acres of uncultivated land. He wrote his poems on a rough bench that he had used in building the cottage. In 1886, H. Rives Pollard, editor of Southern Opinion, a literary and political weekly published in Richmond, offered a prize of $100 for the best poem on the War of the Rebellion. Mr. Hayne won the prize with his "Confederates in the Field." In speaking of Mr. Hayne and William Morris, the English poet, the late Edwin P. Whipple said: "We cannot see that the American poet is one whit inferior to his accomplished English contemporary in tenderness, sweetness, grace, and ideal charm, while we venture to say that he has more of the true poetic enthusiasm." Mr. Hayne's poetical works had a large circulation.

"Speaking of great people," says a Boston Commercial Bulletin writer, "I must not overlook the Genius of War—that veritable Mars—the Count Von Moltke, the master of the 'last argument,' as the Prince Von Bismarck is master of the earlier dialectics of international controversy. As I was walking one day in Bellevue avenue, I saw standing upon the curbstone a thin, little man, with an absent look, wearing the tall black cap with the black stripe which all German officers wear, and with a great military coat thrown over his shoulders—the sleeves dangling by his sides. I suppose he was waiting for somebody. When he turned and looked you in the face, you might see that his eyes were by no means dull, although he was over eighty. His clean-shaven, wrinkled face, and thin white hair were not handsome, but impressive, though his head was small and his eyes set too near together. The Genius of War, this thin, wrinkled symbol of force, left his curbstone and paced slowly down the street, giving the military salute now and then to those whom he passed on his way."

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Jan. 19-codaily.

Hay Fever.
Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventative to hay fever. Have been using it as directed and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 6th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventative I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy.—F. B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

"THE PARIS OF AMERICA."

FOUR FAMOUS HILLTOP RESORTS OF CINCINNATI, O.

Fashionable Pleasure Haunts of the Inclined Plane—Lookout, Bellevue, Price's Hill and Highland House—The Beautiful Ohio Scenery.

One of the unique features of Cincinnati, which attracts the stranger more particularly, are its hilltop resorts, the city being situated in an amphitheatre formed by hills, which rise 400 or 500 feet on the north, east and south. It was long thought that these hills would form an insuperable barrier to its growth, but by the happy expedient of the inclined railways these obstacles have become the crowning glory of the city. For in the cool and invigorating atmosphere of these hills have a great portion of its citizens built delightful country homes, and for the great mass of people, who can only spare time for an occasional visit to the hills, there have been constructed at the head of the several inclined railways pavilions and pleasure grounds which are open, free to all. As these resorts have been the scenes of historical political conventions, and are often alluded to in the press, a brief description of them will not be found amiss.

On the summit of Jackson hill, now more familiarly known as Mt. Auburn, was built in 1872 a mammoth pleasure pavilion 80x200 feet, and an amphitheatre which is used for dramatic and circus performances and dancing. The grounds are divided into lawns and flower gardens, and beneath the broad spreading shade trees are refreshment tables. The grand pavilion is not unlike in design and detail like resorts at Coney Island. It contains 200 refreshment tables, special and private dining rooms and grand orchestra. This pavilion and grounds will comfortably accommodate 5,000 persons. Since the Lookout house, as it is called, came into existence, it has undergone many improvements. The principal amusement at the present time is dancing and German concerts.

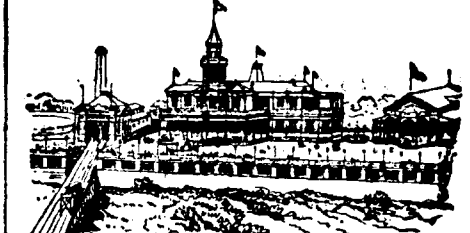

On the heights of the west bank of Milk creek, a tributary of, and at its junction with, the Ohio river, is Price's hill, reached also by an incline, the head of which terminates with a grand pavilion, concert garden and dancing halls. The grounds are very large, with a net work of pleasure walks, shaded by hundreds of trees, beneath which are convenient refreshment tables. The grounds, pavilion and terrace overlook the entire city, a scope of perhaps ten miles. On the opposite side of the summit you look from a point where the Ohio river takes a graceful curve to the south. The eye rests on a dim, uncertain horizon thirty miles away, across the blue grass fields, wooded vales and picturesque hills of Kentucky. Nearer, to the left, on the opposite shore, the graceful, low, blue banks are broken by the inflow of the turbulent, green-dyed jacking, which rushes, with the songs of sawmills and industry, into the amber-hued waters of the more peaceful, sate and grander Ohio. The scenes on, around and from the summit of Price's hill are among the grandest in the Ohio valley, which, regardless of the alleged selectiveness of the Adirondacks, Catskills and the Hudson, or the more awe-inspiring splendors of the Rocky mountains, needs no word painting, for the Ohio is a living swath which mows its state, stunning every way through sublime nature in her grander moods.

Price's hill is principally patronized by people from the West End, who hold all their picnics and social balls and parties, in winter and summer, in one of the finest dancing pavilions in the country. It was here that the Democratic nominating convention of 1883 was held.

The Bellevue house, pavilions, esplanade and other attractive buildings cover more ground than any other hill-top resort in the city. The grounds comprise about twelve acres, in which there is a park and orchard, innumerable shade trees, lovely walks and beautiful flowers. The Bellevue is largely used for picnics, balls and private parties in summer and winter, the buildings being heated by steam. As many as 10,000 people have frequently been entertained in one evening. The entire place is open at all times, and the admission is free.

dining rooms. This building is complete in every detail, being finished painted and decorated in the highest style of modern art. Running around the entire building are wide balconies. Another building of quite equal dimensions is situated to the right of the main hall, which is used for balls, parties, and private and public picnics. This immense floor is also used as a roller skating rink. On the roof of this building is the platform and wooden skeleton work from which is given the battle of Gettysburg, and the very extensive fireworks displays that are frequent on summer evenings. Running the entire length, and reaching far out over the edge of the cliff is the Belvedere, the floor of which is partly stone, with a seating capacity of 7,000. Here and there, at convenient distances are elegant statues in stone, bronze, iron and marble; also beds of beautiful flowers, which fill the cool mountain air with their dense fragrance. At the north end of the Belvedere is a large grotto orchestra platform in which one of the various bands play. The other end of the Belvedere terminates with a lovers retreat in the shape of a cave built of black rock, the inside of which has many fantastic shapes, with stalactite formations everywhere and a stately canopy.

The views from all parts of the ground, and especially from the esplanade, Belvedere and balconies, are as grand as any in the Ohio valley. The Ohio river, which from here can be seen for five miles, spanned by three magnificent bridges, is filled with every kind of craft from the birch bark canoe to the magnificent double-deck steamer; the romantic beauty of the Kentucky hills and blue grass fields; the picturesque scenery of the Licking valley; the charming landscape of Eden park, together with a full view of Cincinnati, Covington, Newport and Ludlow, form a panorama of the grandest and most varied character.

Electric and gas lamps are used throughout the grounds and buildings, which, from their number, make the whole quite as light as day. The scene at night from the Belvedere, overlooking the city, is quite as fine as that of the day. Owing to the dense smoke from innumerable factories and mills, which hangs over the city and beneath your gaze, makes the myriads of lamps give a flickering and uncertain light through the murky blackness. The horizon is not perceptible, and above the blue-black dome of heaven is filled with the lights of blinking spires. Thus it is that we may gaze overhead and down the scroll of distance, on until the eye rests at our very feet, we see nothing but black night and blinking stars.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cure of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

REINALD SCOTT, in his "Discover of Witchcraft" (15-4), enumerates the different kinds of spirits, and particularly notices white, black, gray and red spirits.

They are Not sorry.
There is one thing nobody ever regrets—that is the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

MR. CLEVELAND once asked Senator Voorhees: "Who is Judge Turpie?" "A citizen of Indiana," was the reply, "to whom I feel like apologizing every time we meet." "Why?" "For the reason that I am in the Senate of the United States and he is not."

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE Cod Liver Oil. With Hypophosphates, In General Debility, Emaciation, Consumption and Wasting in Children, is a most valuable food and medicine. It creates an appetite for food, strengthens the nervous system and builds up the body. It is prepared in a palatable form and prescribed universally by physicians. Take no other.

OUR NEIGHBORS OF NOVA SCOTIA DEMAND HOME-RULE!

Falling in That, Their Leaders Say They Will Not Rest Until the Stars and Stripes are Floating Over the Peninsula.

We are having a struggle for home rule at our own doors that is of interest to the United States as well as Canada, but the Irish contest in the same cause overshadowed the one nearer by, while the fight promises to be just as bitter and the principles they struggle for are just the same.

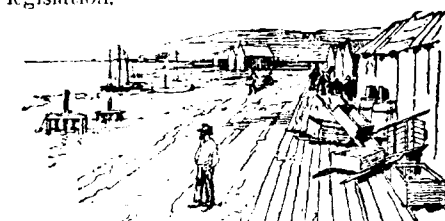

GRINDING MEAL BY HAND.

The home rule demanded on this side of the Atlantic is by Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Newfoundland. Nova Scotia claims, however, to have the greatest grievance, which can only be satisfied by a repeal of the union with Canada and annexation to the United States.

By a glance at the map it will be seen that no portion of the peninsula of Nova Scotia reaches as high a latitude as the state of Maine; that is, this state shuts off the intercourse of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia from direct eastern communication with the markets in the rest of Canada, unless they carry their products by an all water route northward, and then down the St. Lawrence river. They are shut out from their natural market in the United States by the tariff, and here is where the shoe pinches and where relief would come by annexation.

Nova Scotia was settled originally by Frenchmen, under which it bore the name of Acadia. These simple, slow-going people, whose Longfellow has immortalized in verse, were supplanted by solid Englishmen, and during the present century by staid Scotchmen. The present generation of Nova Scotians are largely descendants of these settlers. They stick to their primitive methods of doing most everything, even to the grinding of the grain and the tilling of the soil, as shown in our illustrations. They care little how the world goes around them and are conservative and a block to liberal or repeal legislation.

A NOVA SCOTIA FISHING VILLAGE. But after twenty years' trial of the confederation, during which the taxes have been piling higher and higher and the commerce and industries of the country have been sinking lower and lower, the Nova Scotian has at last awoke to the necessity of a repeal of the union with Canada, and he is as persistent in his demands for justice as he was heretofore dogged in clinging to the existing law. They have recently elected a local assembly overwhelmingly in favor of home rule, and many of their prominent men declare that if their request is not granted they will apply for annexation to the United States.

Many paragraphs of the numerous petitions that have been forwarded to both the Canadian parliament and to England, recall similar complaints of the American colonies prior to the revolution. As far back as 1867 the Nova Scotia assembly passed the following:

"We, the representatives of Nova Scotia, having assembled for the purpose of constructing an administration, cannot separate without making known to our constituents our unanimous and unalterable determination to use every lawful and constitutional means to extricate this province from the operation of the 'British North American act,' the passage of which, in the imperial legislation, was obtained by falsehood, fraud and deception."

A CONSERVATIVE.

The assembly of 1884 passed the following:

"That previous to the union of the provinces Nova Scotia was in a most healthy financial condition."

"That after sixteen years under the union, successive governments have found that the objections which were urged against the terms of union at first apply with still greater force now than in the first year of the union."

"That a notable inequality exists in the customs duties collected in Nova Scotia, as compared with customs duties collected in Ontario and Quebec."

"That Nova Scotia, in 1861, had a population of 339,857, and in 1866—the year before the union of the provinces—she imported $14,381,008 worth of goods, dutiable and free, on which she collected $1,226,338.57 of duties, being $8.54 on each $100 worth of goods imported. In 1881 the province had a population of 410,572, imported in 1882 $8,701,589 of goods, from which the Dominion government collected a duty of $20,301 per $100, while Nova Scotia was obliged to pay $25.51 per $100 on goods imported."

To a newspaper correspondent the attorney general of Nova Scotia said:

The United States annexation movement will begin when the tariff is removed from international traffic. If the liberal party were strong enough to prevail upon the United States senate the advantages to be derived, by free trade I think, the difficulties would be lessened, particularly if a strong tariff were raised against all foreign governments by both the Canadians and American people. If this alliance can ever be formed, Canada will become annexed to the United States without doubt.

Without home rule Nova Scotia will prepare for a struggle, which will not end until the stars and stripes are floating over her domains.

THOMAS COGSWELL,

Democratic Candidate for Governor of New Hampshire.

Capt. Cogswell, the Democratic nominee for governor of New Hampshire, was born in that state forty-five years ago. He graduated from Dartmouth in 1862, immediately entered the army and was promoted captain of his company within a year. After the war he studied law, and has practiced it since his admission to the bar in 1866.

THOMAS COGSWELL.

He was elected a representative to the general court in 1871-72, overcoming a Republican majority of 60 in his town, Gilmanston, and was the Democratic speaker of the house in 1873, and elected a state senator in 1878. Capt. Cogswell was chairman of the board of selectmen in 1880-81-82. In 1884 he was elected solicitor of Belknap county. He is now engaged in agricultural pursuits and in the management of his large landed estate.

ROWING AROUND THE WORLD.

Richard Chandler, Who Will Make the Attempt, and His Boat.

About two years ago John Traynor put to sea from Bath, Me., in a rowboat, with the avowed purpose of rowing around the world. Whether he became discouraged, landed at some other point on the coast, shipped west and is now a festive cow boy under a nom de plume, or whether he was wrecked, is not known, for nothing has been heard of him since. Richard Chandler, another youth of 46 years, has become fired with the ambition to emulate Traynor and succeed where the latter failed. A doctor of Bath, Me., fitted out the Traynor expedition and offers to prepare a similar outfit for any man who will attempt the voyage.

CHANDLER'S BOAT.

The boat in which Chandler is to cross will be twelve feet long at the bottom with about fourteen feet gunwale. She is to have water-tight compartments built forward and aft. The only open space in her will be a cockpit in the center. In width she will be four feet and in depth thirty inches. Besides a large supply of food, she is to be fitted with life suits, cork jackets, life lines, a Boyton rubber suit and everything that can comfort the voyager.

For Feeble Little Ones.

For many enfeebling complaints to which children are subjected, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, used medicinally, in the hands of parents and nurses, never fails, on account of its absolute purity and efficacy, in effecting a cure.

Mr. J. A. RINGROSE, 114 Battery avenue, Baltimore, Md., writes: "My twin babies of five months had suffered with pains since their birth, at times having their limbs to draw up and become stiff, expecting them to go into convulsions. These pains were caused no doubt, by irregularity of bowels, the children becoming constipated. After trying treatment of local remedies, as well as medical treatment, without avail, and with the loss of rest to myself and wife, we thought it impossible to save the little ones, and, as a last resort, we resolved to try one bottle of your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY. We are glad we did; the result was wonderful; it relieved the babies at once, producing a natural quiet sleep, relieving them of wind and pain, restoring their bowels to a normal condition, thriving wonderfully. While generally opposed to intoxicating liquors as a medical preparation, I don't think your MALT WHISKEY can be beat."

Mr. A. J. MERRILL, Editor of the Ledger, Pocomoke, Md., writes: "I have been using your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY in my family for a long time. I got it originally for a delicate child. Have given it to her. She is today in the best of health and as hearty as any child of her age. I attribute her present good health entirely to your excellent whiskey."

Mrs. H. E. FAIRALL, Professional Nurse, 65 North Bond street, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I first practically tested the merits of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY in the case of two sickly and debilitated children, who were weak and puny at birth. In less than three months by the use of it they were big, fat and healthy as any children I have ever seen. At another instance wherein the most remarkable results were obtained was the case of a child hopelessly ill and given up to die by the attending physician. I used your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY combined with milk, and in one month the child was entirely cured. I could mention hundreds of cases where I safely say it has saved life."

Mrs. C. HART, 125 Wilmet Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "In case any of my children ever becoming sick I always keep your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY on hand. Told my physician, and he said he used it in his practice. I will recommend it."

"Only a Normal girl, full of fun, with a nice pair of bangs and mouth full of gum; with her little boots and agile manner, and her scratch book full of her heart's deep clamor; her 'mashes' and 'times' and skill for a racket, that's a tighter fit than her jersey jacket. Only a girl—but when in time she's a match for a wake or a big cyclone,"—Judge Sinclair.

A Washington telegram to the Indianapolis Journal says: "Mr. Edgerton, civil service commissioner, is reported to be very much improved in health to-night, though by no means convalescent yet."

The Indianapolis Sentinel this morning says: "Hon. R. C. Bell, of Allen, in most emphatic terms said that he has not encouraged the use of his name for the office of lieutenant governor, and would not accept the nomination if tendered."

Dr. J. W. Younge sent out a letter denouncing the tri-state military encampment and now Scott Swann sends a circular denouncing Doctor Younge and tracing his career. The quarrel grows warmer and a duel is imminent.

JOHN BARRY.

He was Run Over and Mangled by a Wabash Engine.

John Barry, an old man aged 75 years, was run over and killed by a Wabash engine in the yards, just west of Calhoun street last night. He was crossing the track heedless of the approaching engine and its warnings. The engineer tried to stop the locomotive, but there was too much force behind it and Barry was struck and rolled under the wheels. His lower limbs were cut into bits and from loss of blood and shock he died. The old man was conscious to the last and spoke to those whom he knew. Barry was formerly employed as a watchman at the Lafayette street crossing, of the Wabash and leaves only two children, his wife being dead.

Compliments to Senator Bell.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 10.—The democrats of this county convened in mass convention Saturday afternoon to select delegates to the state and congressional conventions. Dr. M. James, chairman of the county central committee, called the meeting to order. A. C. Silverburg was made chairman, with W. H. Shideler secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Under the opinion of the attorney general the office of lieutenant governor will become vacant with the acceptance of Gen. M. D. Manson of the collectorship of the Terre Haute district; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the delegates of Delaware county to the state convention be and are hereby instructed to cast the vote of the county for Hon. R. C. Bell, of Fort Wayne, to fill the unexpired term of said office.

OFF TO THE CAPITAL.

The Jeffersonians and Miamis Go 200 Strong—Their Mottoes.

The Jeffersonian and Miami clubs left for the state capital this morning on Bob Smith's special train. The City band occupied one coach and the enthusiastic democrats crowded into the remaining ten passenger cars. The picked politicians of the city and county were there, save of course the leaders, who went to Indianapolis yesterday and last night, and there were probably a hundred of them. Bob Smith estimates there were three hundred on his train leaving Fort Wayne, but two hundred seemed to size up to the repertorial optic. The cars were decorated with streamers reading, "Solid for Munson," "Jeffersonian and Miami Clubs," "Allen County Solid for Munson." There was one banner to head the procession at Indianapolis. It reads: "Allen county—Everybody for Munson."

The Fort Wayne delegation will cut a wide swath at the capital and when the City band, eighteen strong, serenades Col. C. A. Munson at the Grand hotel, there will be some enthusiasm.

GOOD WORK.

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. Half Yearly Report and its Lesson.

The work of the association during the past six months is a source of great encouragement to the laborers. Great improvements have been made in the rooms, the property formerly rented by the association is now owned by it, the contract is in hand for enlarging the basement and adding new bath tubs, and steps are being taken to replenish the library. The membership of the association according to the present progress will reach the round number of 1,000 by the close of the year, while the spiritual side of the work is by no means discouraging, a large number having professed conversion, under the instrumentality of the association, all of whom have united with the different churches. The various committees, with one or two exceptions, have performed their duties very satisfactorily. The ladies auxiliary have assisted greatly by their kindness in connection with socials and other matters and the pastors generally have shown their appreciation of the work that is being done by addressing our meetings from time to time. Early in the year our former general secretary, Mr. D. F. More, resigned to accept a call in another field. Mr. More labored energetically for the association while here, and a great deal of its success may be attributed to him. Mr. R. M. Hays succeeded him as secretary and under his administration the work has continued to prosper. The president, and those in authority under him, have filled the positions to which they were elected with great ability. The following is a brief synopsis of the general attendance and work for the first half of 1886: Attendance at rooms, 42,700; attendance at Sabbath services, 1,059; attendance at cottage meetings, 519; attendance at social entertainments, 725; letters written by men (stationary provided), 1,143; number of baths taken, 4,257; number of books issued, 622; new members joined and old ones renewed.

STOLE A BULL.

An Old Man Caught in the Act and Pleads His Own Case.

This morning an old man appeared at F. Leikoff's meat market, on Barr street. He offered for sale a two year old bull and $20 was agreed on. The man said his name was Clark, and that his farm was out east. Frank Leikoff gave the fellow $5 to bind the bargain and asked him to get a man who could identify him. The stranger remarked he was known on Lewis street and adjourned to a saloon close by. Sheriff Nelson was notified and his deputy, Ed Clausmeyer, responded. Clark did not relish his surroundings and sneaking out of the back door he fled, with Clausmeyer in hot pursuit. He was caught after running two blocks and Justice Ryan gave him a preliminary hearing. Clark conducted his own case. He said he belonged to a family of lawyers and is pretty smart. He would not say where his home is or name a man he knows. Justice Ryan held him for grand jury investigation, and in default of $500 bail he languishes in jail. The owner of the stolen bull is wanted.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana telegraph company will send messages to New York, Boston, Baltimore and Washington at reduced rates, twenty word messages being sent for 35 cents.

Mrs. Maria B. Woodworth, who has been holding a trance revival in Anderson since July 22, has gone to Farm-land, Delaware county, at which place she will hold a week's service, after which she will return to, or near, Anderson and continue her meetings.

The Lafayette Courier loses its temper whenever it refers to the recent military encampment in that city, and it wants the outside world to know that the people of that city were not to blame they having done their part, but they were ignored by the "little corporal," meaning Koonz.

There is a movement on foot to organize an Indiana military league from the militia and independent companies in the state, and hold at least one encampment annually exclusively for military instruction, with special reference to battalion drill and guard duty. In these encampments there will be no sham battles, prize drills, and other clap-trap to catch the eye, and no admission fee will be charged to the camp.

The Huntington county democrats have nominated this ticket: For representative, Orlando W. Whitelock; for clerk, Samuel Buchanan; for auditor, Joseph G. Amis; for sheriff, Euries Dumbauld; for treasurer, William W. Helm; for recorder, Otis C. Morgan; for surveyor, Orlando W. Barsh; for commissioner, second district, Eli Burket; for coroner, Cyrus Carey. The ticket is made up of five farmers, two merchants, one mechanic, one lawyer and one musician. Such distribution of honors is characteristic of the party of the people.

WAR! Dead Certain.

Mexico is Getting Insolent.

Shots are Exchanged Over the Rio Grande.

A Rumored Rescue of Cutting Calls Out this Mexican Order:

'Cut off his Head and Present it to the Rescuers With my Compliments.'

The Young Men of Texas Want War and Compliment Secretary Bayard.

Grows in Density and Size and the Government Preparing for the Encounter.

New York, Aug. 10.—There was activity at the army posts in and near New York yesterday and communication with Washington was continuous. At Fort Hamilton the serviceable munitions of war were unloaded and shipped and it was determined just how much could be depended on from that quarter upon a sudden call. Fort Wadsworth, Willer's Point and David's Island have already reported. At pier 20, on east river, gun carriages for field batteries were delivered to the Mallory Steamship company for immediate shipment to San Antonio, Texas, via Galveston. They will be parried by the Rio Grande, which will sail to-morrow. Colonel Hodges of the quartermaster's department, who shipped them, said the shipment was made in the ordinary course of business and not on special orders.

GRATEFULLY REPORTED.

MINNEAPOLIS, Texas, Aug. 10.—The friends of Governor Ireland here are jubilant over the endorsement of his policy by the old states. The city is full of excitement and in favor of the United States taking a decided stand against Mexico. There could be 1,000 men raised here for a Mexican war. At a mass meeting held last night, resolutions were passed favoring immediate war with Mexico.

SHOTS FIRED.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 10.—Shortly after dark some thirty shots were fired by the Mexican troops across the river, after a party of deserters, which caused the wildest excitement in this city. Everyone believed hostilities had commenced in earnest. Arms for the company of minute men recently organized, were distributed and the city council held a secret session and adopted measures for resisting an attack from the Mexicans.

A gentleman who came in upon the Mexican Central late last night, says that a telegraph operator caught information off the wire between Paso Del Norte and Chihuahua that officers of Paso Del Norte telegraphed to the governor of Chihuahua, that there was danger of an attempt from El Paso to rescue Cutting. The order came promptly back: "In case of any attempt to rescue Cutting, cut off his head and present it to the rescuers with my compliments."

SECRETARY BAYARD COMPLIMENTED.
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—A Dallas special says that everybody is complimenting Secretary Bayard and the war spirit predominates. The people see a ray of hope now that the Mexican outrages and Mexican insults will be redressed. All the newspapers compliment the secretary of state and the street talk is all for Bayard and war. The young men are particularly anxious to have a brush with Mexico, either under federal government or by Governor Ireland's permission. Many prominent Texans returning from Washington have done much to allay ill-feeling that obtained against Washington authorities. They all report that the government means business, is moving prudently and without uneasily haste, but everything will be all right in the end.

Senator Cooke went to see Mr. Bayard before he left Washington. The secretary told him that if there was any back down, Mexico must do it. Congressman Mills says he looks for a reconvening of congress within thirty days, unless Cutting is pardoned. "You may say," says he, "that the policy of this administration is to protect the humblest citizen, whoever he may be, and President Cleveland and Mr. Bayard will never recede one iota from this position."

NO TROOPS MOVING.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—It is stated at the war and navy departments to-day that no movements of troops or vessels have yet been ordered with a view to a possible warfare. The state department says it has still no reason to doubt that an amicable adjustment of the Cutting affair can be had.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

The Defense in the Anarchist Trial Closes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—At the anarchist trial, the defense introduced Graham, a reporter, who had interviewed Gilmer, the witness who testified concerning the throwing of the bomb, and tried to contradict Gilmer's testimony. The defense then closed the testimony.

The prosecution called for Justice of Peace Skully, as the first witness in rebuttal. The justice testified that Officer Wessler did not identify Stanner as the man who did the shooting in the rear of the wagon at Haymarket, in the trial before him, and whom the police afterward identified as being Fielden.

Squire and Flynn Indicted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The grand jury have reported two indictments against Squire and Flynn.

Commissioner Squire has been arrested by Inspector Byrne.

Maurice B. Flynn has surrendered himself to answer to the indictment. Their arrests grew out of a deep conspiracy, implicating Maurice B. Flynn and Rollin M. Squire in a scheme to defraud the city of New York.

K. of L. and Trades Unions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The disgraceful fight in the Central Labor union on Sunday was the principal topic of conversation in labor circles to-day. It is the general impression that it has widened the breach between the K. of L. and the trades unions that it can not be healed until after a long and bitter fight, and that it has destroyed completely any slight chance that the Central Labor union candidate for mayor might have had.

Waylaid and Robbed.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 10.—John Morris, a former living near Hauging Rock, this county, was last night waylaid in a covered bridge over the Salamonie river as he was returning from Lagro, knocked down and robbed of all the money he had, about $40.

"Church?"
"Yes, a church."
"Oh, yes, I know what you mean—some of these things where they ring a bell like thunder every Sunday morning. Yes, we've got one."
"Don't you ever attend?"
"No? No, I never have yet. I put in $25, though, toward building it."
"How did you come to do that if you don't take interest enough to attend?"
"Oh, I know what I was doing—I couldn't sell any town lots without one. There's nothing will catch the Eastern speculator when he comes out to buy real estate like a church with a long, slender steeple sticking up like the nozzle of a tin oil-can—"

All Quiet at Belfast.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A special from Belfast says that temporary quiet has been restored there, thanks to the tactical distribution of military forces. Persons wounded in the riot are making fair progress toward recovery except Inspector Bull, of the royal Irish constabulary, who is dying.

THE PERFECTIONISTS.

Portrait of Mrs. J. B. Martin, Who Is Said to Be a Divinity.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—A curious religious frenzy has pervaded certain circles in Ohio for the past fourteen years, or ever since the crusade which was inaugurated about that time, when bands of women went about praying in the streets. This enthusiasm has gone on intensifying until now the matter has assumed such strange importance as to be regarded as a serious phenomenon. About thirty persons, men and women, have abandoned the churches and formed an ascetic band, whose inner mysteries have not been divulged to the world. All these people are far above the average in intelligence and social position. One of them is the widow of an ex-member of congress and a territorial judge of Kansas appointed by Buchanan. Another is the wife of an ex-judge of a court in Cincinnati. Several are girls barely out of their teens. Men of means, engaged in business, and some more boys have joined the band. Some have sacrificed their occupations to join it, and are depending upon the Lord to provide for them. Meetings are held in a beautiful home on Walnut Hill, owned by a man and his wife, who are members.

Several years ago a series of holiness meetings was started at the Loveland camp grounds. They were for converted Christians, and their purpose was to attain a state of sinless Christian life. Dr. Leonard, the noted prohibitionist, and the "boy preacher," delivered sermons on the subject of holiness. The outcome of it all has been that Mrs. J. B. Martin professes to have reached that state of perfection wherein it is impossible for her to die. Her followers, who number about thirty, regard her as Christ manifested in the flesh in His second advent into the world. It has never been ascertained that she herself lays claim to anything of the kind. It is also said that they regarded her sister as the earthly embodiment of the Holy Spirit. To these two persons they render a homage as to supernatural beings. They believe that the millennium is about to begin on earth. Yet their meetings are reserved for those only who, having become dead to the world, are born again into a new life of perfect holiness.

Your correspondent and artist called on Mrs. Martin to secure a photograph of the "divinity," but it transpired that she was pledged not to give her portrait to the press, nor would she even show one of her photographs. She treated your correspondent with the most extreme courtesy, and while engaged in conversation with him your artist secured the accompanying sketch. It will be easily recognized by any of her acquaintances, and would be a surprise to herself, only that we explain here how we obtained it.

Mrs. Martin is a most fascinating conversationalist. She is a small person, dressed modestly, and would never be accused by a newspaper man of possessing any privileges not accorded to the rest of mortals. She never claimed divinity in any mortality, and she denies all the charges of previous immorality which some papers bring against her. ROBINSON.

SOMETHING WORTH KNOWING.

How a Consumptive Lady Cured Night Sweats.

[Special Correspondence.]
New York, Aug. 9.—"I tell you," said a gentleman with a taste for something new under the sun, "the days of drugs are going swiftly by. Doctors of medicine will be driven to agricultural pursuits. The contents of pharmacies will languish on the shelves; medical colleges will be turned into very different institutions, and the human race grow healthier, happier, stronger and wiser all the time."

I looked an interrogatory.
"You want to know why, though you won't believe me when I tell you. Well, all these things will happen because the world is undergoing old ways. It is turning its back on things that reach you through the stomach alone, and traveling more and more in the direction of things that take hold on the mind, or enter one through the medium of thought. Don't be afraid, I'm not going to make a mind-cure sermon, but I have just heard something that makes me think in this direction of thought."

I looked another interrogatory. He went on: "Well, my sister, Mrs. Kardia, has seemed to me fairly started on the road to the grave because of consumption. She had night sweats and every indication of that dreadful disease. She doctored, she traveled, but she grew steadily worse. Somebody told her that she could cure the night sweats by eating a large pan of fresh water under her bed every night. Of course she laughed at the idea. People always do laugh at any remedy that involves neither trouble nor expense. No; so rather thought she would remedy an insult to her intelligence. Her daughter, however, thought everything worth trying, and allayed the pan of water under the bed without her mother knowing it. Curious, but that night she missed her usual sweat. And every night thereafter when the pan was under the bed there was no sweat."
"Then she was told and was greatly astonished and delighted. After that, when the water had not been changed, the sweats returned, though she did not know that the water had not been changed, so it couldn't have been the result of imagination. The sweats have been entirely stopped by this simple thing, but I wish you would try it out in your newspaper letters, for it may do suffering good. The pan must be secured under the middle of the bed, directly under the spine of the patient. Once, when Mrs. K. rolled over and slipped on the side of the bed, away from the water, the sweats returned."

STATE CONVENTION.

The Hotels Filling—Canvassing for Votes Becoming Lively.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10.—The democratic convention for the nomination of a state ticket will meet in Tomlinson hall at 10 o'clock Wednesday. There will be 1,231 delegates, and it will require 617 to insure a nomination. So far as the candidates are concerned, the battle is already on. They have pre-empted the most eligible rooms at the various hotels, and have already established headquarters there. The Grand hotel lobby to-day was the principal forum upon which the early arriving delegates were warmly and numerous greeted. From present appearances the convention will be composed in an unusual degree of new men. Chairman Henderson, of the state central committee, says that the people have taken a full hand this season in selecting delegates, and many politicians who have invariably represented their various districts will this year not be present at all, or only as spectators. It is not to be supposed, however, that there will be no "wheel-horses" in the ring. It will not be difficult to discover that the convention will be democratic.

Thereof decision that a lieutenant governor must be nominated to fill the vacancy created by Manson's retirement has thrown the candidates into confusion. Many well laid plans have been interrupted. Candidates have been obliged to recast accounts made up before a head was put on the ticket. The candidates for lieutenant governor have, in numerous instances, arisen from counties which have had candidates for other positions long in the field. "Before this new element was considered—and even yet in some quarters," says the News, an independent paper—the following slate was believed to be invincible:

Secretary of state—Bob Miers, of Monroe.

Auditor of state—Charles Manson, of Allen.

Treasurer of state—Tom Byrnes, of Vanderburgh.

Clerk of the supreme court—Martin Kruger, of Laporte.

Attorney general—Hugh McMullen, of Dearborn.

Superintendent of public instruction—J. W. Manson, of Porter.

Judge of the supreme court—John R. Coffroth, of Tippecanoe.

While these gentlemen have reached more prominence in their candidacy for the respective offices named, the situation is so complicated by the advent of the lieutenant governorship that no one (except Tom Byrnes, against whom there is no opposition) can rest assured that his calling and election is a certainty.

The great question, of course is, who will get the nomination for lieutenant governor. The successful man may not only succeed Governor Gray, if that gentleman goes to the federal senate, but he will undoubtedly be the candidate for governor two years hence. Two candidates are now prominent, says the News—Judge J. C. Nelson, of Cass, and Congressman Cobb, of Knox. Roll, of Allen, has declined to become a candidate; Menzies, of Posey, is represented by his friends to be unwilling to serve; Smith, of Jennings, is said to be out of the race. Jim Willard, of Lawrence, wants the nomination, but can't get it; and Charley Jewett is an unknown quantity.

The Indianapolis Journal speaking on lieutenant governor says: "Judge Downey, of Rising Sun, also had friends to suggest his name, while those who presume to know of the wishes of Bell and Cobb said emphatically they were not candidates. In conflict with this, a gentleman who knows the ambitions of democratic statesmen as well as he knows himself said 'Cobb wants it.' There was also an assertion that Bell, of Allen, had a scheme ready to put in operation at the proper time, notwithstanding,

standing, it was said, his decisive determination.

The Journal adds: "Charles Manson, candidate for state auditor—This tonight is only the skirmish line. Only a few delegates are here, but I am making the most of them. Wait until to-morrow and the fight will be on in earnest."

From Washington is Good To-day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The president to-day appointed Daniel Mangos, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., collector of customs for the port of New York.

Spring wheat returns to the department agent for August 1, show an improvement in the condition of wheat in Iowa, a small decline in Western Nebraska and a heavy reduction in Dakota. The general average is: Red, from $9.2 to $9.0. There has been a heavy decline in the condition of corn since July 1. The average then was $5.5, now $5.1. The heaviest decline is in Illinois, Wisconsin and states west of the Mississippi. The average on spring rye is $8.

There is still a good chance that Secretary Manning may return to active service in the treasury department.

President Cleveland, accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Folsom, will in a week from to-day, the 18th inst., leave Washington for a four weeks' vacation to the Adirondacks. After this week he will dispense with transacting public business, and while at the mountains will devote his entire time to recreation. He will conduct no business whatever until after his return in early October. He will take up his residence at his country home, where he will remain until congress reassembles in December.

Mr. Tilden's Will.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The will of Mr. Tilden was read at Graystone to-day. The family declined giving any particulars, but Mr. John Bigelow stated the property was placed in the hands of himself, A. H. Green and G. W. Smith, as executors and trustees. Some are apportioned to heirs equally in the line of consanguinity, except as to his sister, who is given $100,000 and a house. The remainder of the property is devoted to public benefactions. The executors are charged with the duty, first, of establishing a free library in his native village, New Loeban, also in Yonkers, and, if in the discretion of the trustees they choose to establish a free library in this city, they may do so, and if not, they are at liberty to use the funds that a free library would cost in the promotion of any charitable or educational use. A great deal is left to the discretion of the trustees. The estate is valued at $5,000,000.

Michael Davitt's Plans.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—"Mr. Parnell and President Egan," said Michael Davitt to a reporter to-day, "invited me to attend the Chicago convention in the interest of harmony. I am not a delegate, but came over for change of air and a short rest. I have promised to address a meeting on Saturday of the united Irish societies, at Chicago. During my stay here I shall see and confer with the leaders of the Irish movement."

Mr. Davitt refused to express any opinion about the reply of President Egan to Secretary Gleason, of the New York municipal council, on the subject of allowing other societies to be represented in the convention at Chicago. He said that the other differences would be adjusted, and that the influence of the Irish delegates would be for harmony.

Infanticide in Indiana.

MARCO, Ind., Aug. 10.—An atrocious crime committed here in July has just come to light. Mrs. Ruth E. Chaudler, of Daviess county, had been making her home with her brother-in-law, Jonathan Madden. During the latter part of July she gave birth to a child. It disappeared, and neighbors began to talk about it. Last week the prosecutor was informed that the child had been found near Madden's house, buried in a hole among thick hazel brush. The body was in a paper sack, had on a shirt and three aprons.

Mrs. Chaudler confesses that she gave birth to a child July 23, but did not know what became of it. Also that the father of the child was Enoch Hindman, a wealthy farmer, married, with a wife and children living, and a brother-in-law of Madden. Hindman died last spring of trichinosis. Mrs. Chaudler was held for murder in the first degree and Madden as an accessory. Both are in jail at Bloomfield.

Valparaiso has a kindergarten.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

THERE is a small Boston boy growing up who has the stuff of a patriot in him.
Johnnie Jones, aged 8, of Boston, accompanying his mother, brother, and sister to Utica to make a visit. He soon disappeared and could not be found. Messengers were sent out, the City Hall bell rung, and his mother was in great anguish. Two hours later on the boy from the Hub was found over in Deerfield. He said that he didn't like Utica as well as Boston,
and had started to walk home.

PAUL HAMBLETON HAYNE, the Southern poet, who has just died at the age of 55 years, was a man of highly sensitive nature, modest, and remarkably industrious. He had a picturesque home near Augusta, Ga.—a little house on the top of a hill surrounded by a few nerves of unencultivated land. He wrote his poems on a rough bench that he had used in building the cottage. In 1886,
H. Kives Pollard, editor of Southern Opinion, a literary and political weekly published in Richmond, offered a prize of $100 for the best poem on the War of the Rebellion. Mr. Hayne won the prize with his "Confederates in the Field." In speaking of Mr.
Hayne and William Morris, the English poet, the late Edwin P. Whipple said: "We cannot see that the American poet is one whit inferior to his accomplished English contemporary in tenderness, sweetness, grace, and ideal charm, while we venture to say that he has more of the true poetic enthusiasm." Mr. Hayne's poetical works had a large circulation.

"SPEAKING of great people," says a Boston Commercial Bulletin writer,
"I must not overlook the Genius of War—that veritable Mars—the Count Von Moltke, the master of the 'last argument,' as the Prince Von Bismarck is master of the earlier dialectics of international controversy. As I was walking one day in Bullova avenue, I saw standing upon the curbstone a thin, little man, with an absent look, wearing the tall black cap with the black stripe which all German officers wear, and with a great military coat thrown over his shoulders—the sleeves dangle
by his sides. I suppose he was waiting for somebody. When he turned and looked you in the face, you might see that his eyes were by no means dull, although he was over eighty. His clean-shaven, wrinkled face, and thin white hair were not handsome, but impressive, though his head was small and his eyes set too near together. The Genius of War, this thin, wrinkled symbol of force, left his curbstone and paced slowly down the street, giving the military salute now and then to those whom he passed on his way."

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Flood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say.
Flood's Sarsaparilla has done for them.

tive powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

FOUR FAMOUS HILLTOP RESORTS OF CINCINNATI, O.

Fashionable Pleasure Haunts of the Incline Plane—Lookout, Bellevue, Price's Hill and Highland House—The Beautiful Ohio Scenery.

One of the unique features of Cincinnati,
which attracts the stranger more particularly,
are its hilltop resorts, the city being situated in an amphitheatre formed by hills, which rise 400 or 500 feet on the north, east and south. It was long thought that these hills would form an insuperable barrier to its growth, but by the happy expedient of the inclined railways these obstacles have become the crowning glory of the city. For in this cool and invigorating atmosphere of these hills have a great portion of its citizens built delightful country homes, and for the great mass of people, who can only spare time for an occasional visit to the hills, there have been constructed at the head of the several inclined railways pavilions and pleasure grounds which are open, free to all. As these resorts have been the scenes of historical political conventions, and are often alluded to in the press, a brief description of them will not be found amiss.

LOOKOUT HILL.

On the summit of Jackson hill, now more famously known as Mt. Auburn, was built in 1872 a mammoth pleasure pavilion 500x200 feet, and an amphitheatre which is used for dramatic and circus performances and dancing. The grounds are divided into lawns and flower gardens, and beneath the broad spreading shade trees are refreshment tables.
The ground pavilion is not unlike in design and detail like resorts at Coney Island. It contains 200 refreshment tables, special and private dining rooms and grand orchestra.
This pavilion and grounds will comfortably accommodate 5,000 persons. Since the Lookout house, as it is called, came into existence, it has undergone many improvements. The principal amusement at the present time is dancing and German concerts.

The success attending the opening of the Lookout house was nothing if not phenomenal.
Thousands flocked to the pavilion and flooded the grounds in overflowing. Thus it was that the thousands who were daily turned away for lack of room needed another "hilltop" resort, and they were not long in having their wants supplied.

PRICE'S HILL.

On the heights of the west bank of Milk creek, a tributary of, and at its junction with, the Ohio river, is Price's hill, reached also by an incline, the head of which terminates with a grand pavilion, concert garden and dancing halls. The grounds are very large, with a net work of pleasure walks, shaded by hundreds of trees, beneath which are convenient refreshment tables. The grounds, pavilion and terrace overlook the entire city, a scope of perhaps ten miles. On the opposite side of the summit you look from a point where the Ohio river takes a graceful curve to the south. The eye rests on a dim, uncertain horizon thirty miles away, across the blue grass fields, wooded vales and picturesque hills of Kentucky. Nearer, to the left, on the opposite shore, the graceful, low, blue banks are broken by the inflow of the turbulent, green-yellow Licking, which rushes, with the songs of savannah and industry, into the amber-hued waters of the more peaceful, sedate and grand Ohio. The scene on, around and from the summit of Price's hill are among the grandest in the Ohio valley, which, regardless of the alleged sequesteredness of the Adirondacks, Catskills and the Hudson, or the more awe-inspiring splendors of the Rocky mountains, leads no word painting, for the Ohio is a living swath which moves its silent, shimmering way through sublime nature in grandly and gloriously.

Price's hill is principally patronized by people from the West End, who hold all their picnics and social balls and parties, in winter and summer, in one of the finest dancing pavilions in the country. It was here that the Democratic nominating convention of 1853 was held.

BELLEVUE HOUSE.

The Bellevue house is one of the most famous hill-top resorts in the city, situated at the head of the Clifton Incline Plane railway, built immediately upon the edge and overhanging the high cliffs which overlook Mc-Micken avenue, 500 feet below. It is by far the largest and most costly for beauty and appointments the celebrated Highland house.
One view, the beautiful Mill Creek valley, spreads out away to the northwest, the apparently windings easily traced by shimmering reflections of the sunlight, while here and there the stream is lost behind the houses of more thickly crowded settlements. Turning,
the eye rests on the city while another view,
not quite so extended, but none the less beautiful, is to the north across a wide expanse of undulating country to the velvet lawns and palatial residences of Clifton, one of the loveliest residential spots in America.

The Bellevue house, pavilions, esplanade and other attractive buildings cover more ground than any other hill-top resort in the city. The grounds comprise about twelve acres, in which there is a park and orchard, immense shade trees, lovely walks and beautiful flowers. The Bellevue is largely used for picnics, balls and private parties. In summer and winter, the buildings being heated by steam. As many as 10,000 people have frequently been entertained at one evening.
The entire place is open at all times, and the admission is free.

The Highland house is the newest and most fashionable of the hilltop resorts. It is situated at the head of the incline plane, on Mt. Adams. The buildings are numerous and extensive. The main hall will comfortably seat 2,000 persons. On stairs are parlors, ladies' dressing rooms, theatre and extensive dining rooms. This building is complete in every detail, being finished painted and decorated in the highest style of modern art.
Running around the entire building are wide balconies. Another building of quite equal dimensions is situated to the right of the main hall, which is used for balls, parties, and private and public places. This immense hall is also used as a roller skating rink. On the roof of this building is the platform and wooden skeleton work from which is given the battle of Gettysburg, and the very extraordinary fireworks displays that are frequent on summer evenings. Running the entire length, and reaching far out over the edge of the cliff is the Belvedere, the floor of which is partly stone, with a seating capacity of 7,000.

Here and there, at convenient distances are elegant statues in stone, bronze, iron and marble; also beds of beautiful flowers, which fill the cool mountain air with their dense fragrance. At the north end of the Belvedere is a huge grotto or orchestra platform in which one of the various bands play. The other end of the Belvedere terminates with a lovely retreat in the shape of a cave built of black rock, the inside of which has many fantastic shapes, with stalactite formations, everywhere and a stately canopy.

HIGHLAND HOUSE.

The views from all parts of the ground, and especially from the esplanade, Belvedere and balconies, are as grand as any in the Ohio valley. The Ohio river, which from here can be seen for five miles, spanned by three magnificent bridges, is filled with every kind of craft from the birch bark canoe to the magnificent double-deck steamer; the romantic beauty of the Kentucky hills and blue grass fields; the picturesque scenery of the Licking valley; the charming landscape of Eden park;
together with a full view of Cincinnati, Covington, Newport and Ludlow, form a panorama of the grandest and most varied character.

Electric and gas lamps are used throughout the grounds and buildings, which, from their number, make the whole quite as light as day.
The scene at night from the Belvedere, overlooking the city, is quite as fine as that of the day. Owing to the dense smoke from innumerable factories and mills, which hangs over the city and beneath your gaze, makes the myriads of lamps give a flickering and uncertain light through the murky blackness. The horizon is not perceptible, and above the blue-black dome of heaven is filled with the lights of blinding spheres. Thus it is that we may gaze overhead and down the scroll of distance, on until the eye rests at our very feet,
we see nothing but black night and blinking stars.

In the Hop Plasters the virtues of fresh herbs are combined with strengthening and stimulating balms, and its onces of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuritis or pain in the chest are simply marvelous, it being more efficacious and through than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

HE INALD SCOTT, in his "Discovery of Witchcraft" (1884), enumerates the different kinds of spirits, and particularly notices white, black, gray and red spirits.

There is one thing nobody ever regrets
—that is, the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

MR. CLEVELAND once asked Senator
Voorhees: "Who is Judge Turpie?"
"A citizen of Indiana," was the reply,
"to whom I feel like apologizing every time we meet." "Why?" "For the reason that I am in the Senate of the United States and he is not."

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE
Cod Liver Oil, With Hypophosphates,
In General Debility, Emaciation, Consumption and Wasting in Children, is a most valuable food and medicine. It creates an appetite for food, strengthens the nervous system and builds up the body. It is prepared in a palatable form and prescribed universally by physicians.
Take no other.

SECESSION.

OUR NEIGHBORS OF NOVA SCOTIA DEMAND HOME-RULE.

Falling in That, Their Leaders Say They Will Not Rest Until the Stars and Stripes are Floating Over the Peninsula.

We are having a struggle for home rule at our own doors that is of interest to the United States as well as Canada, but the Irish contest in the same cause overshadowed the one nearer by, while the fight promises to be just as bitter and the principles they struggle for as just the same.

GRINDING MEAL BY HAND.

The home rule demanded on this side of the Atlantic is by Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Newfoundland. Nova Scotia claims, however, to have the greatest grievance, which can only be satisfied by a repeal of the union with Canada and annexation to the United States.

By a glance at the map it will be seen that no portion of the peninsula of Nova Scotia reaches as high a latitude as the state of Maine; that is, this state shuts off the intercourse of Nova Scotia and Nova Scotia from direct eastern communication with the markets in the rest of Canada, unless they carry their products by an all water route northward, and then down the St. Lawrence river. They are shut out from their natural market in the United States by their tariff, and here is where the shoe pinches and where relief would come by annexation.

Nova Scotia was settled originally by Frenchmen, under which it bore the name of Acadia. These simple, slow-going people, whom Longfellow has immortalized in verse, were supplanted by stolid Englishmen, and during the present century by staid Scotchmen. The present generation of Nova Scotians are largely descendants of these settlers. They stick to their primitive methods of doing most everything, even to the grinding of the grain and the tilling of the soil, as shown in our illustrations. They care little how the world goes around them and are conservative and a block to liberal or repeal legislation.

A NOVA SCOTIA FISHING VILLAGE.

But after twenty years' trial of the confederation, during which the taxes have been piling higher and higher and the commerce and industries of the country have been shifting lower and lower, the Nova Scotian has at last awoke to the necessity of a repeal of the union with Canada, and he is as persistent in his demands for justice as he was heretofore dogged in clinging to the existing law. They have recently elected a local assembly overwhelmingly in favor of home rule, and many of their prominent men declare that if their request is not granted they will apply for annexation to the United States.

Many paragraphs of the numerous petitions that have been forwarded to both the Canadian parliament and to England, recall similar complaints of the American colonies prior to the revolution. As far back as 1837 the Nova Scotia assembly passed the following:

"We, the representatives of Nova Scotia, having assembled for the purpose of constructing an administration, cannot separate without making known to our constituents our unanimous and unalterable determination to use every lawful and constitutional means to extricate this province from the operation of the 'British North American act,' the passage of which, in the imperial legislature, was obtained by falsehood, fraud and deception."

A CONSERVATIVE.

The assembly of 1884 passed the following: "That previous to the union of the provinces Nova Scotia was in a most healthy financial condition."

"That after sixteen years under the union, successive governments have found that the objections which were urged against the terms of union at first apply with still greater force now than in the first year of the union."

"That a notable inequality exists in the customs duties collected in Nova Scotia, as compared with customs duties collected in Ontario and Quebec."

"That Nova Scotia, in 1861, had a population of 339,597, and in 1860—the year before the union of the provinces—she imported $14,981,068 worth of goods, dutiable and free, on which she collected $1,245,308.57 of duties, being $8.54 on each $100 worth of goods imported."

In 1881 the province had a population of 410,672, imported in 1883 $8,711,589 of goods, from which the union government collected a duty of $20.20 per $100, while Nova Scotia was obliged to pay $25.51 per $100 on goods imported."

To a newspaper correspondent the attorney general of Nova Scotia said:

The United States annexation movement will begin when the tariff is removed from international traffic. If the Liberal party were strong enough to prevail upon the United States to annul the advantages to be derived by free trade I think the difficulties would be lessened, particularly if a strong tariff were raised against all foreign governments by both the Canadians and American people. If this alliance can ever be formed, Canada will become annexed to the United States without doubt.

Without home rule Nova Scotia will prepare for a struggle, which will not end until the stars and stripes are floating over her domain.

THOMAS COGSWELL,

Democratic Candidate for Governor of New Hampshire.

Capt. Cogswell, the Democratic nominee for governor of New Hampshire, was born in that state forty-five years ago. He graduated from Dartmouth in 1862, immediately entered the army and was promoted captain of his company within a year. After the war he studied law, and has practiced it since his admission to the bar in 1866.

He was elected a representative to the general court in 1871-72, overcoming a Republican majority of 60 in his town, Gilmanston, and was the Democratic speaker of the house in 1873, and elected a state senator in 1878. Capt. Cogswell was chairman of the board of selectmen in 1880-81-82. In 1884 he was elected solicitor of Belknap county. He is now engaged in agricultural pursuits and in the management of his large landed estate.

ROWING AROUND THE WORLD.

Richard Chandler, Who Will Make the Attempt, and His Boat.

About two years ago John Traynor put to sea from Hull, Me., in a rowboat, with the avowed purpose of rowing around the world. Whether he became discouraged, landed at some other point on the coast, slipped west and is now a festive row boy under a new name, or whether he was wrecked, is not known, for nothing has been heard of him since. Richard Chandler, another youth of 40 years, has become fired with the ambition to emulate Traynor and succeed where the latter failed. A doctor of Bath, Me., fitted out the Traynor expedition and offers to give a similar outfit to a similar outfit.

CHANDLER'S BOAT.

The boat in which Chandler is to cross will be twelve feet long at the bottom with about fourteen feet gunwale. She is to have watertight compartments built forward and aft. The only open space in her will be a cockpit in the center. In width she will be four feet and in depth thirty inches. Besides a large supply of food, she is to be fitted with life suits, cork packets, life lines, a Doyton rubber suit and everything that can comfort the voyager.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
 When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
 When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria,
 When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For Feeble Little Ones.

For many unfeeling complaints to which children are subjected, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, used medicinally, in the hands of parents and nurses, never fails on account of its absolute purity and efficiency, in effecting a cure.

Mr. J. A. RINGROSE, 174 Battery Avenue, Baltimore, Md., writes: "My twin babies of five months had suffered with pains since their birth, at times having their limbs to draw up and become stiff, expecting them to go into convulsions. These pains were caused no doubt, by irregularity of bowels, the children becoming unmanageable. After trying treatment of local remedies, as well as medical treatment, without avail, and with the loss of rest to myself and wife, we thought it impossible to save the lives of our children. We then resorted to one bottle of your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKY. We are glad we did; the result was wonderful; it relieved the babies at once, producing a natural, healthy sleep, relieving them of wind pain, restoring their bowels to a normal condition, thriving their bowels to a normal condition, thriving their bowels to a normal condition. While generally opposed to intoxicating liquors as a medicinal preparation, I don't think your MALT WHISKY can be beat."

Mr. A. J. MERRILL, Editor of the Ledger, Two-weekly, Md., writes: "I have been using your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKY in my family for a long time. I got it originally for a delicate child. I have given it to her, she is today in the best of health and as healthy as any child of her age. I attribute her present good health entirely to your excellent whiskey."

Mrs. H. E. FAIRALL, Professional Nurse, 61 North Bond Street, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I first practically tested the merits of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKY in the case of two sickly and delicate children, who were weak and puny at birth. In less than three months by the use of it they were big, fat and healthy as any children I have ever seen. Another instance wherein the most remarkable results were obtained was the case of a child hopelessly ill and given up to die by the attending physician. In the midst of death, as he lay in his bed, I gave him a bottle of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKY combined with milk, and in one month the child was entirely cured. I could mention hundreds of cases where I safely say it has saved life."

Mrs. C. HART, 135 Wilmet Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "In case any of my children ever becoming sick I always keep your DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKY on hand. Told my physician, and he said he used it in his practice. I will recommend it."

JOHN BARRY.

He was Run Over and Mangled by a Wabash Engine.

John Barry, an old man aged 75 years, was run over and killed by a Wabash engine in the yards, just west of Calhoun street last night. He was crossing the track heedless of the approaching engine and its warnings. The engines tried to stop the locomotive, but there was too much force behind it and Barry was struck and rolled under the wheels. His lower limbs were cut into bits and from loss of blood and shock he died. The old man was conscious to the last and spoke to those whom he knew. Barry was formerly employed as a watchman at the Lafayette street crossing, of the Wabash and leaves only two children, his wife being dead.

MENON, Ind., Aug. 10.—The democrats of this county convened in mass convention Saturday afternoon to select delegates to the state and congressional conventions. Dr. M. James, chairman of the county central committee, called the meeting to order. A. C. Silverburg was made chairman, with W. H. Shideler secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Under the opinion of the attorney general the office of lieutenant governor will become vacant with the acceptance of Gen. M. D. Manson of the collectorship of the Terre Haute district;

Resolved, That the delegates of Delaware county to the state convention be and are hereby instructed to cast the vote of the county for Hon. R. C. Bell, of Fort Wayne, to fill the unexpired term of said office.

OFF TO THE CAPITAL.

The Jeffersonian and Miami Go 200 Strong—Their Motives.

The Jeffersonian and Miami clubs left for the state capital this morning on Rob Smith's special train. The City band occupied one coach and the enthusiastic democrats crowded into the remaining ten passenger cars. The picked politicians of the city and county were there, save of course the leaders, who went to Indianapolis yesterday and last night, and there were probably a hundred of them. Bob Smith estimates there were three hundred on his train leaving Fort Wayne, but two hundred seemed to size up to the reportorial optics. The cars were decorated with streamers reading, "Solid for Munson." "Jeffersonian and Miami Clubs," "Allen County Solid for Munson." There was one banner to head the procession at Indianapolis. It reads: "Allen county—Everybody for Munson."

The Fort Wayne delegation will out a wide swath at the capital and when the City band, eighteen strong, serenades Col. C. A. Munson at the Grand hotel, there will be some enthusiasm.

GOOD WORK.

The Railroad Y. M. C. A. Half Yearly Report and its Lesson.

The work of the association during the past six months is a source of great encouragement to the laborers. Great improvements have been made in the rooms, the property formerly rented by the association is now owned by it, the basement and adding new bath tubs, and steps are being taken to replenish the library. The membership of the association according to the present progress will reach the round number of 1,000 by the close of the year, while the spiritual side of the work is by no means discouraging, a large number having professed conversion, under the instrumentality of the association, all of whom have united with the different churches. The various committees, with one or two exceptions, have performed their duties very satisfactorily. The ladies auxiliary have assisted greatly by their kindness in connection with socials and other matters and the pastors generally have shown their appreciation of the work that is being done by addressing our meetings from time to time. Early in the year our former general secretary, Mr. D. F. More, resigned to accept a call in another field. Mr. More labored energetically for the association while here, and a great deal of its success may be attributed to him. Mr. R. M. Hays succeeded him as secretary and under his administration the work has continued to prosper. The president, and those in authority under him, have filled the positions to which they were elected with great ability. The following is a brief synopsis of the general attendance and work for the first half of 1886: Attendance at services, 42,700; attendance at Sabbath schools, 1,059; attendance at cottage meetings, 519; attendance at social entertainments, 725; letters written by men (stationary provided), 1,143; number of baths taken, 4,257; number of books issued, 622; new members joined and old, ones renewed.

STOLE A BULL.

An Old Man Caught in the Act and Pleads His Own Case.

This morning an old man appeared at F. Leikoff's meat market, on Barr street. He offered for sale a two year old bull and $20 was agreed on. The man said his name was Clark, and that his farm was out east. Frank Leikoff gave the fellow $5 to bind the bargain and asked him to get a man who could identify him. The stranger remarked he was known on Lewis street and adjourned to a saloon close by. Sheriff Nelson was notified and his deputy, Ed Clausmeyer, responded. Clark did not relish his surroundings and sneaking out of the back door he fled, with Clausmeyer in hot pursuit. He was caught after running two blocks and Justice Ryan gave him a preliminary hearing. Clark conducted his own case. He said he belonged to a family of lawyers and is pretty smart. He would not say where his home is or name a man he knows. Justice Ryan held him for grand jury investigation, and in default of $500 bail he languishes in jail. The owner of the stolen bull is wanted.
